

Partnership Explorations Community Book

The Community Book is one of the key components of exploration in the Partnership Course. You are invited to begin your Community Book and bring it to the first weekend.

Through the year-long inquiry of the Partnership Explorations course, you will have many opportunities to impact and alter the network of conversations that form the clearing for your relationships. To get the most out of this, we recommend that you select 20 people from your life who are critical to determining the quality of that network of conversations and use them to create a Community Book.

Use a binder system with movable pages. Start with one page for each person. Set up your book so that you can add new pages for new people, and so you can add pages with new information on each person throughout the course. For each person in the book, include:

- Their name
- Your relationship to them
- How you contact them/where you see them
- How often you contact or interact with them
- What kind of work they do
- The conversations you have with them
- A photograph of them (optional)
